

Purchase Order App for Construction

The number of tasks a field technician is able to complete each day is largely dependent on having the proper materials. Unfortunately, technicians have little control over getting everything to the job, and often companies rely on the tech to find the closest supply house and pick up the materials. With Evolve's PO module, technicians can select the job and quickly add materials on their iPhone or iPad. The app works in conjunction with existing accounting programs and provides a materials list or free form items to be added to the job.

Over 25% of materials purchased at the job go unaccounted for due to a lack of mobile connectivity to a purchasing system.
